Letter From the Historian

Welcome Electees!

As we quickly approach fall break (thank goodness), I hope you are all making great progress on your electee requirements and making new friends within your electee team. The latter will be important as today your trivia and teamwork skills will be tested with our game of Jeopardy!

Sit back, relax, and get ready for some friendly competition as your electee team goes head-to-head with others to earn points in the electee competition. To check the standings, head to the TBP website and go to the For Members → Electee Resources page.

In the meantime, with midterm season upon us, there is no need to rush, but don't forget to keep an eye on the Event List and sign up for volunteering opportunities and outreach events as your schedule allows.

As always, make sure to provide feedback on the digital cornerstones at tbpmig.org/digitalcornerstone or tbpmig.org/cornerstonecontribution. If you have any other feedback about any of my publications, please reach out to me directly or email me at tbp.historian@umich.edu.

One Minute Reads

Jared Goff is the first quarterback in NFL history to attempt more than 10 passes in a game without throwing an incomplection. Goff was as perfect as you could be throwing the football Monday night in Detroit's 42-29 win over Seattle, as he finished 18-for-18 for 292 yards with two touchdowns and a passer rating of 155.8, and that performance didn't even earn Goff a game ball from head coach Dan Campbell.

"Yeah, well, I just gave the game ball to somebody else so I feel awful right now," Campbell said with a smile after the game. "Well, I knew he played a heck of a game. I did not realize he was perfect. I did not know he was literally 18-for-18.

"But I knew he played really well – you could feel it – and he really found his rhythm early, and I thought he was seeing the field, played with rhythm, he had to move a little bit in the pocket."

I left my campsite and hiked south for 3 miles. Then I turned east and hiked for 3 miles. I then turned north and hiked for 3 miles, at which time I came upon a bear inside my tent eating my food! What color was the bear?
