Definition of Exemplary Character

In order that there may be a more uniform basis for selection of members for Tau Beta Pi, these suggestions are offered. It is expected that a copy of this statement be given each active member before every election, and it may at times serve as a general expression of our policy in the selection of members.

It is the purpose of the Society to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their alma mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as students, or by their attainments as alumni.

Distinguished scholarship, while the primary requisite for admission, must not be considered the sole criterion.

After the scholastic requirements have been fulfilled, the selection shall be based on integrity, breadth of interest both inside and outside of engineering, adaptability, and unselfish activity.

We consider that true integrity is the sine qua non for membership in Tau Beta Pi, that it transcends in importance scholarship, activity, and every other qualification. Without private and public integrity, we believe that no organization is worthy of existence. Under integrity, we include honor and high standards of truth and justice.

Breadth of interest sufficient for eligibility in this Association will enable people to maintain their positions in their community by the exercise of qualities other than engineering ability.

True engineers must be able to adapt themselves ingeniously to all circumstances and conditions, making them conform to the desired purpose.

The rating of people on the degree of unselfish activity manifested, is intended to indicate that Tau Beta Pi believes that none can become worthy engineers without the welfare of associates, organizations, and the community at heart. It is further- more expected that they display willingness to aid and assist in worthy causes by their actual campus record. However, the fact that people may not have shown unselfish activity to an appreciable degree throughout their courses of study is no infallible indication that they would not if the opportunity offered. The most conspicuous illustrations of this are those students who are self supporting, for which due allowance must be made and due credit given. In fine, it is in this capacity for the unstinted giving of their best, without thought of remuneration, that we believe lies one of the most sensitive tests for determining candidates' rights to bear the name and wear the Bent of Tau Beta Pi.

Description of Robert's Rules of Order: Summary of Points and Motions

Motion	Purpose	Example	Vote Needed	Privileged?	Debatable
Call the question/ Previous question	End debate and move to vote	I move to call the question/ I move the previous question	Two Thirds	No	No
Point of order	Requests that the rules be followed	Point of order: the speaker is over time	Ruled by chair	Yes	N/A
Point of information	Allows questions of fact about the business at hand	Point of information: Did the candidate speak to previous office holders?	Ruled by Chair	No	N/A
Point of Personal Privilege	Address issues impairing your ability to participate	Point of personal privilege: Please speak louder	Ruled by Chair	Yes	N/A
Appeal the decision of the chair	Challenges chair's ruling	I move to appeal the decision of the chair	Majority	No	Yes
Reconsider	Considers a vote again	I move to reconsider*	Majority	No	Yes
Recess	Brief Break	I move to recess for 5 minutes	Majority	No	No
Move to extend speaking/question time	Move to extend speaking/question time for all candidates	I move to extend speaking time by 2 minutes per candidate	Majority	No	No
Move to limit debate	Limits the current debate for a certain time or certain number of speakers	I move to limit debate to three more speakers	Two Thirds	No	No

Motions may be made anyone who currently has the floor (the right to speak). The chair will acknowledge the motion and ask for a second. If there is no second, the motion dies for lack of second. If there is a second, an objection may be made. If there is no objection, the motion succeeds by unanimous consent. If an objection is made, the motion is either debated (debatable motion) or goes to vote (non-debatable motion). Privileged Points may interrupt the speaker; cannot be objected to.
