Letter from the Editor

Howdy y'all and Happy Halloween!

I hope you're all planning to get spooked this Thursday, whether it be by the SWE/TBP Halloween Party (Check the website! I'll be there), a frightful horror movie, or by the sheer amount of homework that you have to do. The last one is definitely the worst in my book.

I'm still taking suggestions for what design I should use when carving my pumpkin this year, so please let me know at tbp.historian@umich.edu! The more complicated the better – I'm a fairly experienced carver.
